Fr. Karl Reflection

The Feast of the Transfiguration of the Lord

We hear the Gospel account of Christ's transfiguration taken from the Gospel of Matthew. In this event Peter, James and John come to fully understand who Jesus really is. They come to realize that Jesus is not just another prophet or important person—he is truly the Son of God, and is our savior. For us, living two thousand years later, this message is basic but for the ancients this was new information. It was essential that the disciples understand fully who Jesus is in his humanity and his divinity. The disciples came down from the mountainside changed men—they understood who Jesus really is.

In the second reading we are told that the message being shared by the apostles is true and reliable. It is reliable because they were there—they saw what had happened, not just at the Transfiguration but during the entire ministry of Christ. These men had been formed by Christ—they were changed by Christ. Having been changed by their experience of Jesus the message of Christ became part of them.

The Gospel promises that this experience of the apostles would not die with their generation. First by word-of-mouth the apostles taught the faith and invited people to conversion—long before the existence of New Testament writings. That same word-of-mouth tradition is still alive in the Church—by the grace of the Holy Spirit the fullness of Christ's teaching continues in Church Tradition and Sacred Scripture. We can have the same fullness of understating that the apostles had.

Fiesta de la Transfiguración del Señor

Escuchamos el relato evangélico de la Transfiguración de Cristo tomado del Evangelio de Mateo. En este evento, Pedro, Santiago y Juan llegan a comprender completamente quién es Jesús en realidad. Llegan a darse cuenta de que Jesús no es sólo otro profeta o persona importante: Él es verdaderamente el Hijo de Dios, y es nuestro salvador. Para nosotros, que vivimos dos mil años más tarde, este mensaje es básico, pero para los antiguos esto era información nueva. Era esencial que los discípulos comprendieran plenamente quién es Jesús en su humanidad y su divinidad. Los discípulos descendieron de la montaña como hombres convertidos; comprendieron quién es realmente Jesús.

En la segunda lectura se nos dice que el mensaje que comparten los apóstoles es verdadero y confiable. Es fiable porque estaban allí; vieron lo que había sucedido, no sólo en la Transfiguración, sino durante todo el ministerio de Cristo. Estos hombres habían sido formados por Cristo, fueron cambiados por Cristo. Habiendo sido cambiados por su experiencia con Jesús, el mensaje de Cristo se hizo parte de ellos.

El Evangelio promete que esta experiencia de los apóstoles no morirá con su generación. Primero de palabra, los apóstoles enseñaron la fe e invitaron a la gente a la conversión, mucho antes de la existencia de los escritos del Nuevo Testamento. Esa misma tradición de enseñanza sigue viva en la Iglesia—por la gracia del Espíritu Santo, la plenitud de la enseñanza de Cristo continúa en la Tradición de la Iglesia y la Sagrada Escritura. Nosotros podemos tener la misma plena comprensión que los apóstoles tuvieron.
